

AP United States History Summer Assignment

Due to time constraints and the amount of material that must be covered, we will be moving very quickly once the school year begins. Therefore, it is necessary that students come into class at the beginning of the year with some knowledge of early American history. Following is the summer assignment for APUSH. This MUST be completely in order to be prepared for class the first week of school. (There will be a quiz and an on-demand essay on this reading.)

1. Read Founding Brothers by Joseph Ellis. You may check out copies from the public library or buy a copy of your own. (We recommend buying your own copy so you may write in it.)
2. Take notes on the book as you read. (Notes should be taken on anything you think is important.)

There is no summer assignment for the Honors American Literature class that is linked to APUSH.