U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's online digital media library. Presently, the library system contains the National Image Library--the Service's collection of public domain still photos.

General Collections:

Free Stock Photos.com

This offers photos for free use, with only a few small restrictions.

The site offers beautiful photos of: Scenery; Wildlife; Cities & Buildings; 3D Stereo Photography; Sky; Clouds; Sunsets; Outdoor Recreation; Wildflowers & Plants Historical Places; Miscellaneous.

In addition, they provide some choice images they have pulled from Federal agency websites such as NASA. You will also find these federal agency websites below on this page, where I have provided you direct links to their pages.

Library of Congress American Memory

More than 80,000 photos, mostly of plants, animals, people and landscapes.

Digital Librarian A huge alphabetize list of image collections.

Online Archive of California (OAC) A core component of the California Digital Library, the OAC is a digital information resource that facilitates and provides access to materials such as manuscripts, photographs, and works of art held in libraries, museums, archives, and other institutions across California. The OAC is available to a broad spectrum of users -students, teachers, and researchers of all levels. Through the OAC, all have access to information previously available only to scholars who traveled to collection sites.

The OAC includes a single, searchable database of "finding aids" to primary sources and their digital facsimiles. Primary sources include letters, diaries, manuscripts, legal and financial records, photographs and other pictorial items, maps, architectural and engineering records, artwork, scientific logbooks, electronic records, sound recordings, oral histories artifacts and ephemera.

PicturesNOW "A Visual Encyclopedia of FREE still and Video Images. Search and Browse through one of the Webs largest free collections of Images on nearly every popular subject."

ImageBase "The ImageBase is a searchable image and text database of objects from the collections of the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco (the de Young Museum and the Legion of Honor). The collections (110,000+ objects)..." It is part of the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco.

Yahoo! Picture Gallery

FreeFoto.com Site claims it has over 20,000 images. For non-commercial use only.

FREEIMAGES.co.uk Site says more than 2,500 stock photos for free.

istockphoto.com Download credits actually cost 25 cents, so its actually not free. However, artists get 5 cents credit each time one of their items is downloaded, so you can build up credits.

Photo Gratis

Webshots Part of Excite.

The Geo-Images Project "The Geo-Images Project attempts to make images (mostly photographs) that are useful in teaching geography more widely available using computers and the internet. It was conceived, constructed, and is maintained by G. Donald Bain, Director of the Geography Computing Facility, University of California at Berkeley." Has some cool stuff like virtual reality panoramas.

Beryls Free Photographs Nature, historic, ships/boats, misc.

Astronomical Pictures and Animation

About.com's list of photography and pictures search tools and archives.

Eikon Image Database for biblical studies at Yale. Images in the EIKON database are a subset of the Yale Divinity School Digital Library. Some images in the EIKON database are restricted to Yale use, due to copyright agreements.

University of Washington Libraries Digital Collections "a growing number of collections from the University of Washington Libraries and faculty in such diverse areas as the humanities, the natural sciences, and the regional cultures of the Pacific Northwest and Alaska. The site includes the award-winning project American Indians of the Pacific Northwest. These collections are especially strong in Seattle history, architecture, labor and industry, the Klondike Gold Rush, and our natural environment. (italics are mine) Materials are primarily pictorial, although some have accompanying essays and texts. Other media are presented, such as newspapers, reports, pamphlets, posters, and maps. More formats will be added in the future. The emphasis of these collections is on rare and unique materials."

US Government Agencies

SciTechResources.gov

A collection of US Government Science and Technology web sites

NARA (National Archives and Records Administration) Take a look at the search tool for the National Archives "Digital Classroom," for materials that can be used in the classroom. My impression is that this could be a great source for US history and for anthropology courses with its historical stock footage. Search the word "Custer" and see the classroom materials that you pull up. See also their audio-visual page. You can also go to their homepage to start your search. Try searching "Custer Photographs" and check look for "American West Photographs" in your search results.

NASA:

NASA Image eXchange \(NIX\): Astronomy, Earth, Flight Vehicles and more.
Pictures, photographs and images

NOAA: (National Oceanic & Atmospheric Administration ) photolibrary:

"...the NOAA collection includes thousands of weather and space images, hundreds of images of our shores and coastal seas, and thousands of marine species images ranging from the great whales to the most minute plankton."

NPS: (The National Park Service)

Click on the "search" link at the bottom of the page. Then type in "photos" and topic that you are interested in. For example, "photographs and yosemite." Images can also be found in the Digital Image Archive.

Smithsonian Office of Imaging and Photographic Services: "Use this site to locate Smithsonian photographs of interest to you. They are available to download for your personal use, and for use by schools and students. "

USDA: (United States Department of Agriculture)

Historical Photos Most of the photographs on display in this section were taken between 1937 and 1943 during the Farm Security Administration (FSA) era.

USDoD: (US Department of Defense) Images/multimedia

USFWS: (US Fish and Wildlife Service) Images

USGS: (U.S. Geological Survey) USGS Image Collections
Aerial photofinder

US Department of the Interior: Photo library resources

Includes: USFWS, USGS, Bureau of Reclamation, NPS. Look at the additional info it offers.

A list of Federal agencies you may want to check:

<http://www.ovpr.uga.edu/sponprog/federalagencies/>

Is there a Federal agency related to your discipline? Most of the work created by the US government is in the public domain, so look for federal agencies related to your subject for potential free materials.
