

SPECIAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS

If you are a parent who suspects your child, in the specified age range below, may have a disability requiring special education or related services in order to receive a benefit from their education, contact your local school district, Special Education Local Plan Area (SELPA); or the San Diego County Office of Education for information and assistance.

Federal and state laws prohibit discrimination on the basis of disability and require public schools to provide free appropriate public education (FAPE) to children with disabilities pursuant to the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. Specialists in determining eligibility and educating students with disabilities will assess your child, at no cost to you, and determine whether your child is eligible for special education or related services under the standards of each act. Programs are offered by the public schools throughout San Diego County for children with disabilities between the ages of birth and 21. School districts may not discriminate on the basis of handicap, sex, race, national origin or age against any person who qualifies as a person with a disability.
